

John is a high school science research student at Smithtown High School West and is extremely enthused to be conducting his science research studies at the LTC and expanding his knowledge of optics.